The Golden Days in the Sunshine of Our

Happy Youth, Reflected in...

THE NAUTILUS

1961

Greenville High School

Greenville, South Carolina

Foreword

In the life of every individual there is a "golden time," a time set apart in the span of his years; an interval of rare and precious substance, made brilliant with the sunny laughter, the golden dreams of youth, and mellowed with the new-found wisdom of maturity.

We have found our golden days in the challenge, the spirit, and the strength that is Greenville High. Together we have learned her lessons, accepted her responsibilities, and earned her praise.

We have learned pride in defeat, humbleness in victory; we have gained a timeless knowledge that is more than lessons in textbooks — it is a belief in and an appreciation for all the ideals for which Greenville High stands.

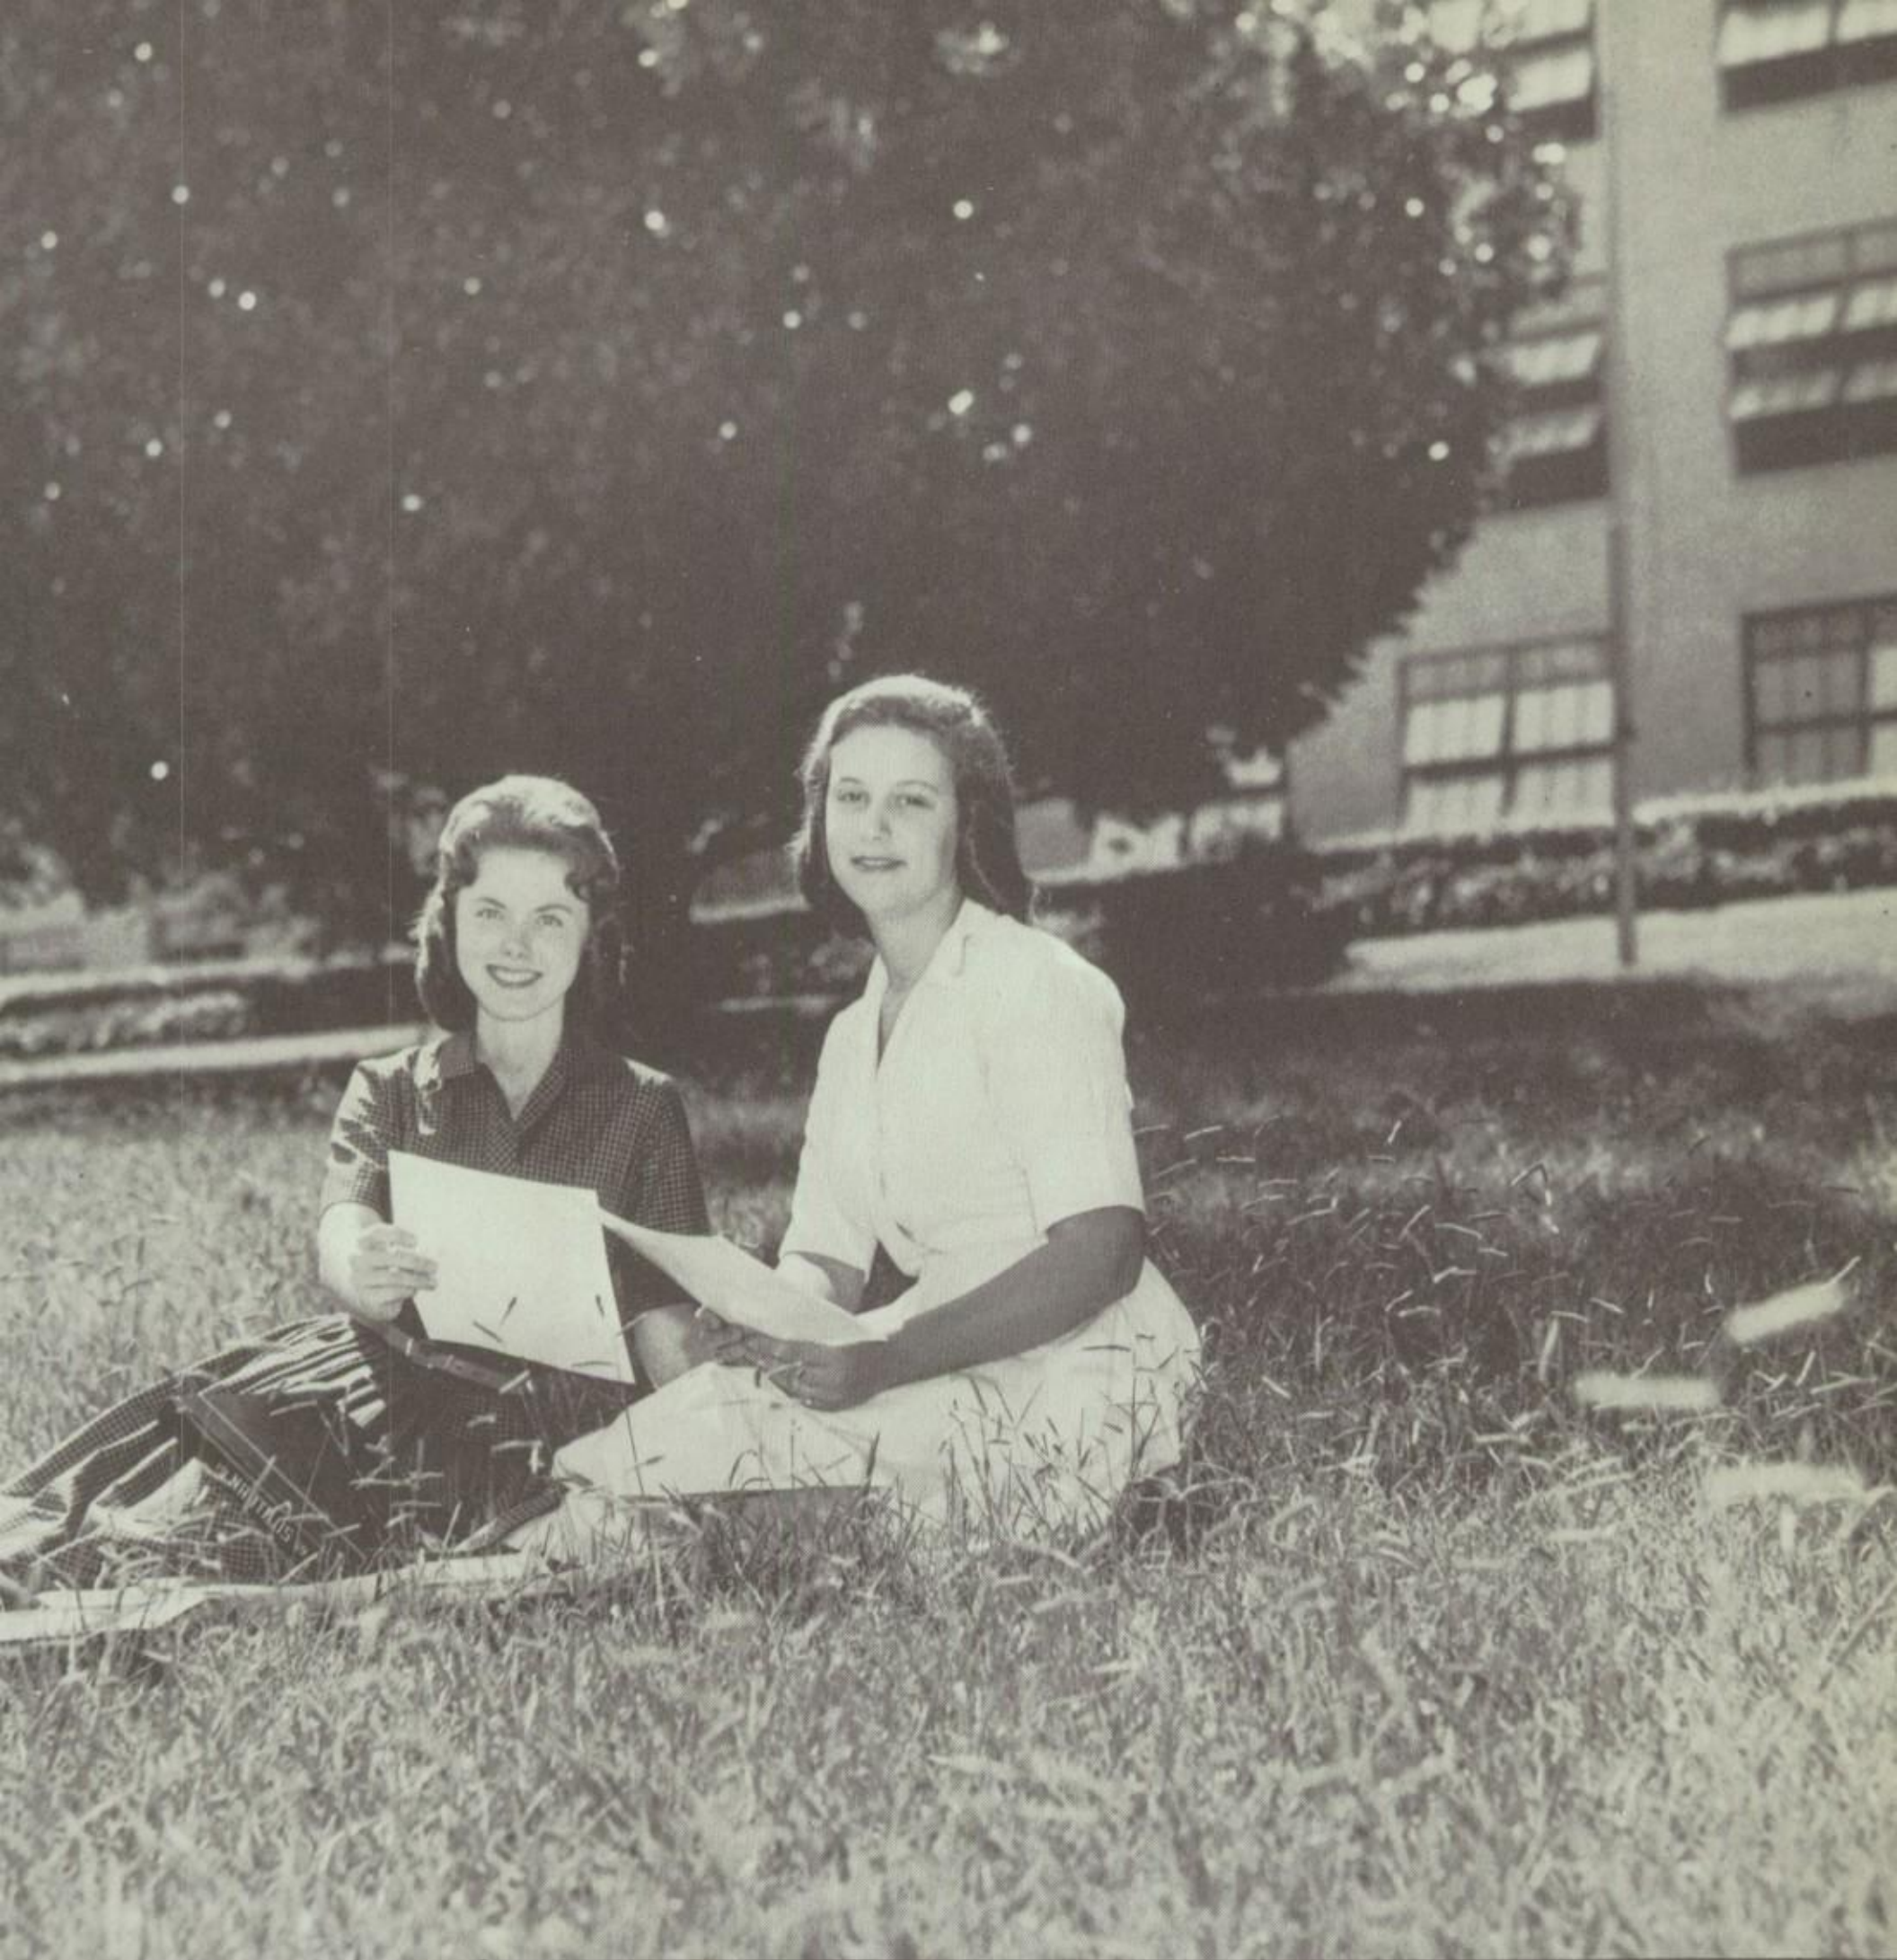

The days of growing in knowledge, wisdom, and maturity — these are "golden days in the sunshine of our happy youth"—days which the staff recaptures in the 1961 Nautilus. We give you this book as a tangible record of our intangible high school years.

Dedication

To express the gratitude, love, and respect to one who has given so much and asked so little in return, who has successfully combined rigorous scholastic standards and warm personal interest, who has brought sunshine into the golden days of our youth, the staff dedicates the 1961 Nautilus to you, MISS MYRTLE TANNER, English and Latin teacher.

Alma Mater

*There is a school we love in Dixie Land,
'Tis Greenville High for which we take our stand.
There we are taught to fill in life a place,
There learn to do, to dare, to run the race.*

*Trueness and purity our colors show,
Red as the crimson and white as the snow.
Loyal to our motto may we e'er be,
Only through truth shall we be free.*

*Though we may wander far, whate'er our lot,
We'll ever keep the sweet lessons you have taught.
Our hearts will turn to thee in tenderness,
And pray God bless you, dear old GHS.*

In Memoriam ...

MARY LAURIE EGAN

MARY LAURIE EGAN, sophomore, died April 15 following a long illness. Jesus' words from John 11:25 offer comfort to the many who are saddened by her early passing: "I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live."

ROBERT H. (SONNY) HAMBRIGHT

ROBERT H. (SONNY) HAMBRIGHT, a member of the sophomore class, lost his life in an automobile accident November 3. Though his friends at GHS do not understand his untimely death, they are comforted by Paul's words found in I Corinthians 13:12 "For now we see through a glass darkly; but then face to face."

September...

After a vacation of sunshine and fun, a few of the 1,459 students enrolled at "The School on the Hill" gathered on the campus before settling down to the routine of study.

October...

In the friendly, informative atmosphere of Open House at Greenville High, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Rasor pause a moment in the foyer to talk with students Tom Zepp and Sandy Blackwell.

November...

The Greenville High school marching band forms a heart on the field during half time at one of the highlights of the year, the Greenville-Parker football game Thanksgiving day.

December...

Carrying out the theme "Home for the Holidays," the PTA presented an evening of entertainment. We laughed, sang, marveled, and departed filled with a warm glow of pride for our friends and school.

January...

The first snowfall of the winter . . . we found our campus enveloped in a blanket of white and experienced the surprises, joys, and inconveniences caused by an unexpected holiday.

February...

Scoring their way up to playing in the upper-state finals, the 1960-'61 basketball squad lived up to the tradition of fine athletic teams GHS has produced over many winning seasons.

March . . .

Students search the shelves of the well-equipped Greenville High library which boasts over 10,000 volumes of the best in fiction, up-to-date reference materials, and information of all kinds.

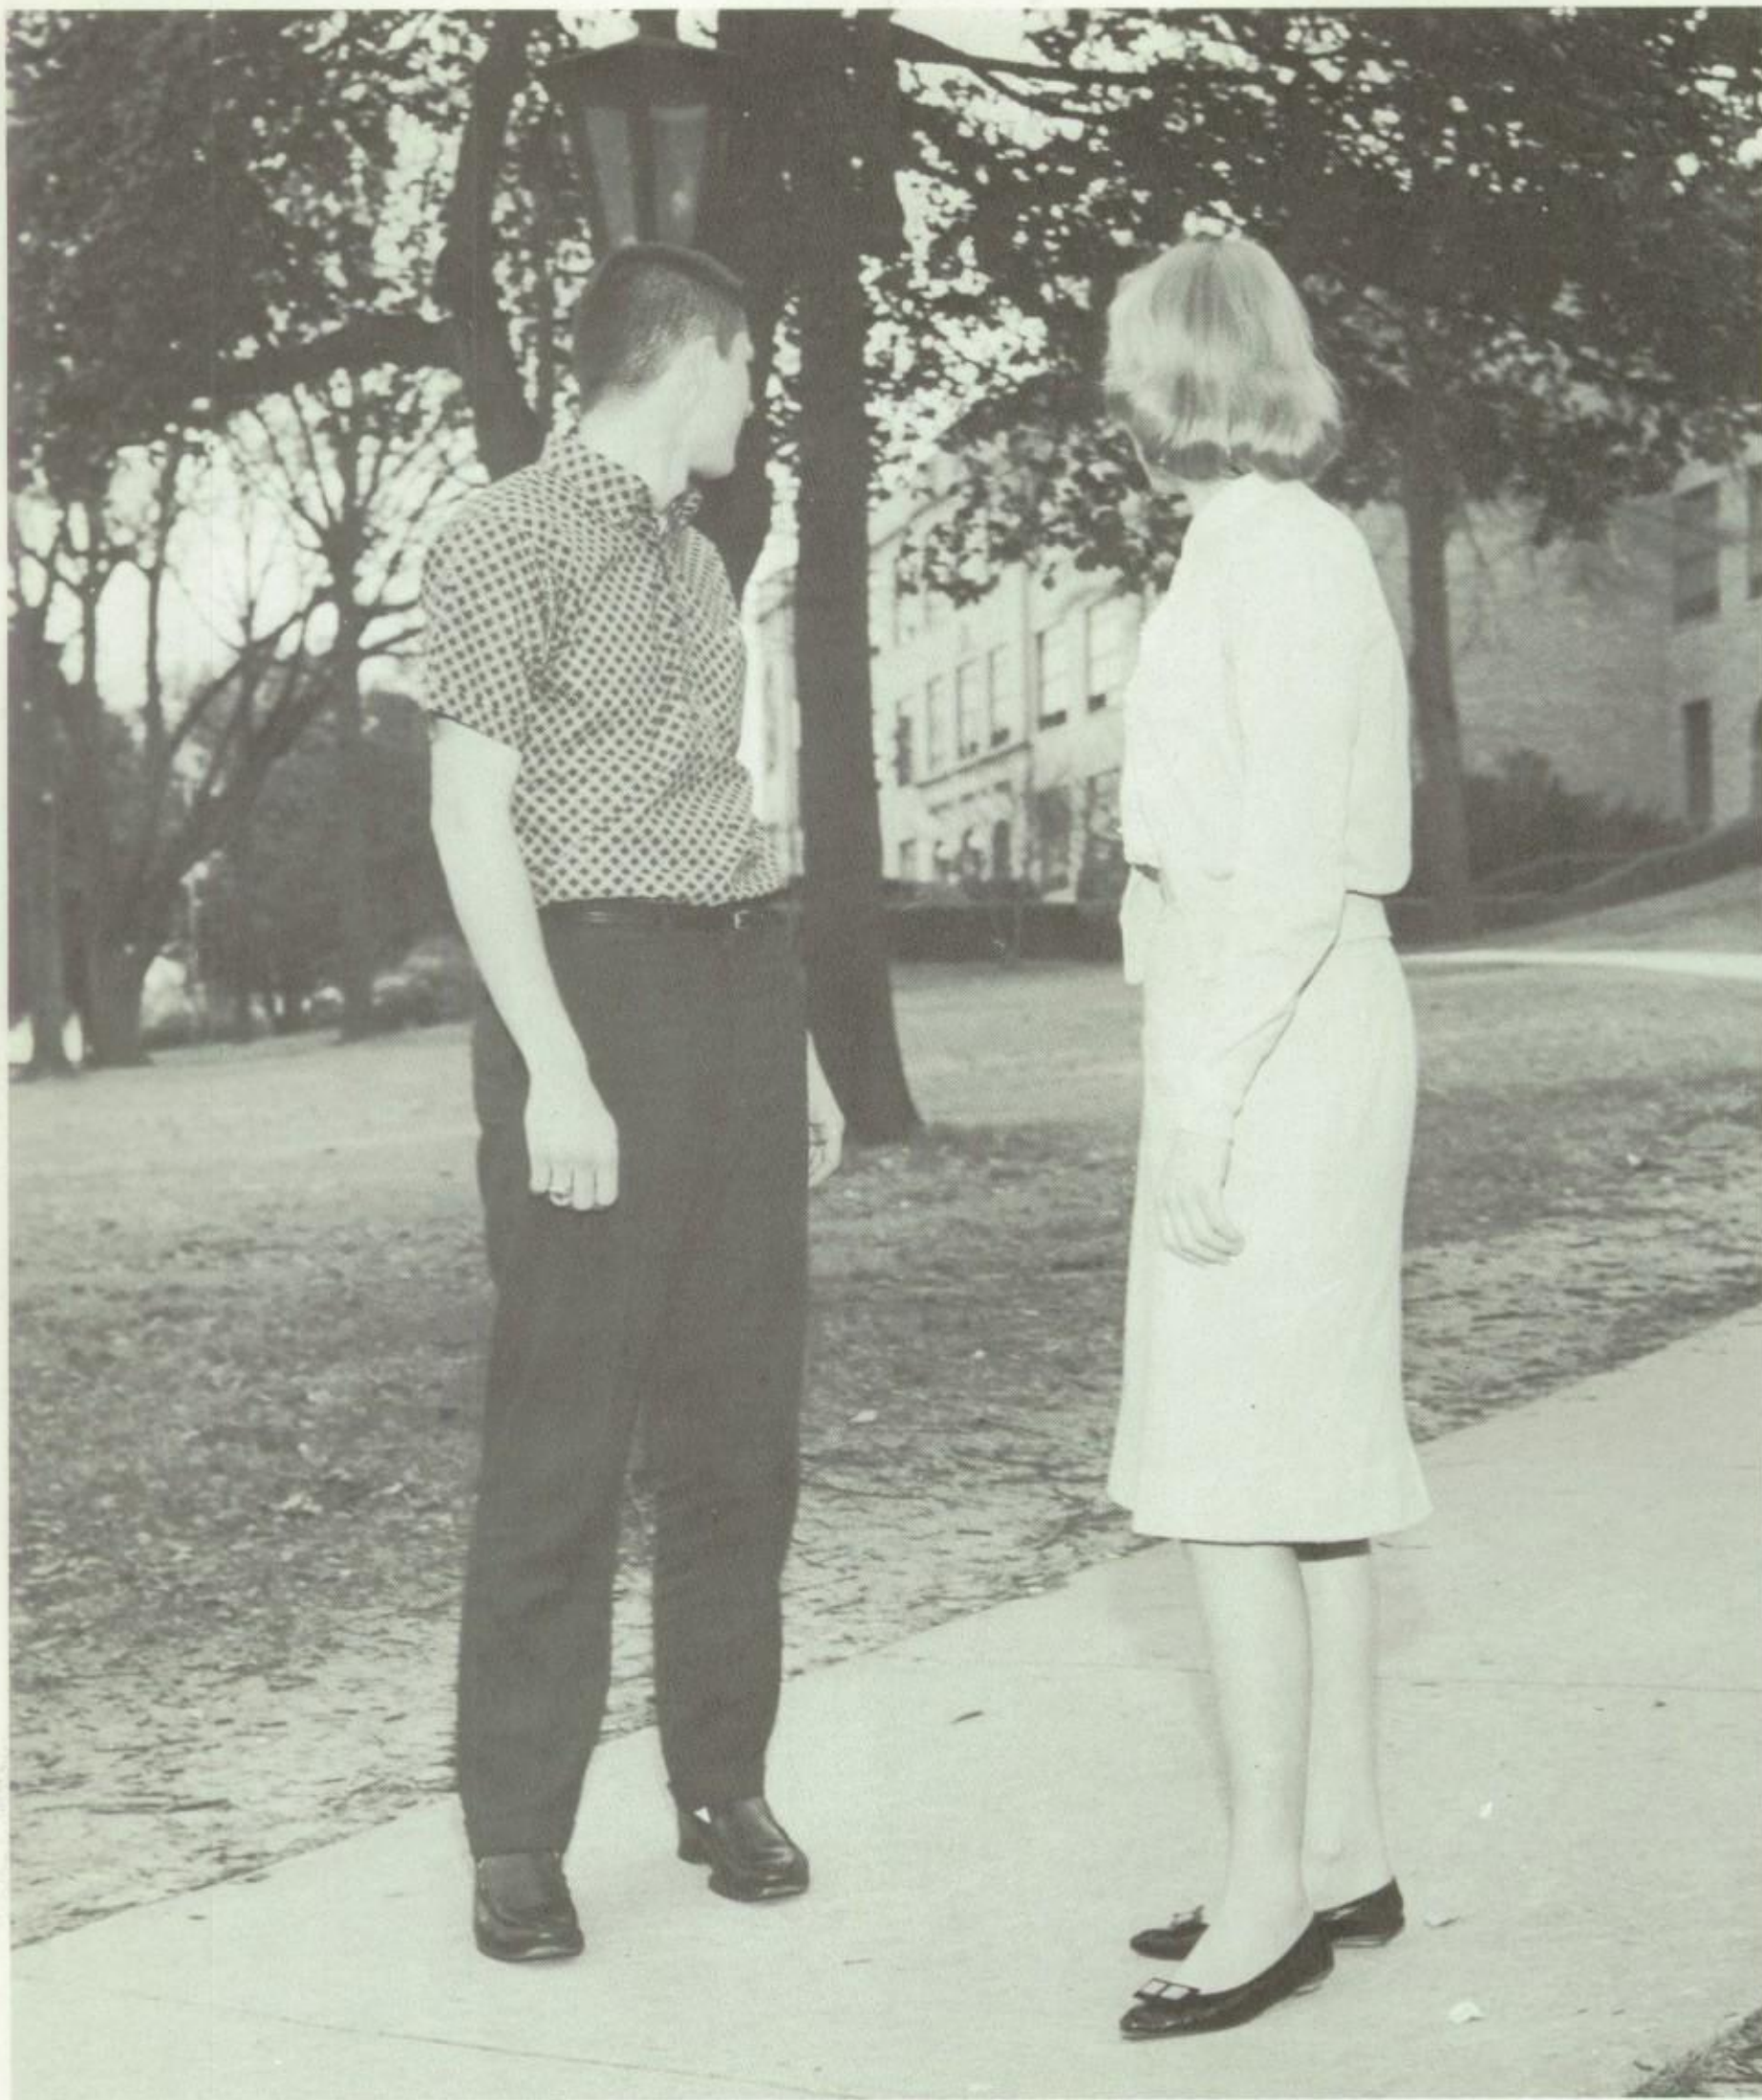

April...

Springtime comes to Greenville High, its lengthening days bringing students a chance to sit in the warm sunshine, revel in the present, reflect upon the past, and envision the future.

May...

As graduation is but a few weeks off, these four seniors check college requirements, scholarships, and final records before leaving the "school on the hill" and the golden days of their youth.

June . . .

On the path to the future, looking back and holding close the past a moment longer, seniors reluctantly leave school to practice for graduation at Memorial auditorium June 1.

Administration

FROM A SINCERE WELCOME for incoming sophomores to a firm handshake at commencement, the administration sets GHS's pattern. It serves as the last word in guidance while busy student life revolves around it, better organized because of it.

Principal D. L. Stanford takes a personal interest in activities of each individual. Miss Mel Lee Daniel is especially concerned with the needs of girls, and assistant principal D. L. Linn offers guidance to the boys. Such leadership establishes a friendly atmosphere and provides pleasant conditions for growth in education and character.

DIRECTED BY MISS NELLIE BURNETTE, the science department strives to open the doors of scientific knowledge to GHS students. Instruction is offered in biology, chemistry, and physics.

Numerous additions and improvements have been made to the scientific equipment and teaching methods this year. New laboratory equipment has been installed in the biology rooms, including work counters, microscopes, a microtone, a centrifuge, and up to date models and charts.

Each student taking chemistry or physics is required to do a project related to his subject, some of which are entered in the Science Fair held annually at Furman university.

To further interest, the science department sponsors field trips to the gardens at Charleston, the Atomic Energy plant at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, and to the rhododendron gardens at Roane mountain.

Certain students are urged to enroll in accelerated courses in understanding nuclear structures taught at Clemson college. Eighteen students participated this year.

English

Sophomore projects bring 'Silas Marner' to life

Ellen, Keren, and Britt look over English essay contest possibilities

THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT, headed by Miss Myrtle Tanner, is the school's largest department. Its goal is to develop in each student the ability to use correct and clear English prose, to express his own ideas, and to understand the ideas of others.

Sophomores learn basic English and study various forms of literature, including the short story, novel, poetry, and plays. They make a complete study of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" and Eliot's "Silas Marner."

Juniors study American literature from colonial to contemporary writers, while further work is done in creative and research writing.

Senior English emphasizes the study of outstanding English literature, including Shakespeare's "Macbeth" and Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales." In addition, advanced English requires each student to write a research paper and a certain number of themes and additional book reports.

The journalism department, headed by Mrs. P. N. Becton, sponsors school publications: High News, GHS's weekly paper; Nautilus, year-book; and Bits O' Lit, literary magazine. Student staff members work during and after school to create, plan, and make these publications ready for distribution.

Home Economics

Home ec follows the new style of shorter skirts

IMPROVEMENT OF FAMILY life is the aim of the home economics department, led by Miss Jessie Hunter. Its courses present objective and realistic lessons in family relations, good management, and good attitudes toward home-making.

Students gain experience in home management through the study of infants' care, health, and the well being of individuals. Stoves, refrigerators, and sewing machines are placed in home economics rooms to aid the girls in learning the fundamentals of cooking and sewing.

To further interest in this field, students taking this course may join and participate in the activities of the FHA, a club for the future homemakers of America.

Language

GHS's LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT, with Miss Patricia Lupo as chairman, offers Latin, French, and Spanish. Its goal is to impart to its students fluency of speech and cultural knowledge of foreign lands. To accomplish this purpose, study is made of the literature, folk songs, customs, and current politics. This year, the language rooms have been equipped with tape recorders and drill tapes to encourage conversational use of the languages.

Latin students attend the Latin Forum, sponsored by Winthrop college at Rock Hill. There they see films of Rome, present Latin dramas, and engage in various contests such as word derivation, spelling, and posters.

Spanish and French students participate in Modern Language day held annually at the University of South Carolina in Columbia. There they spend the day hearing and speaking the language of their choice, attending plays, entering contests, singing, and hearing speakers from foreign countries.

Social Science

MRS. JACKSON GREENE is chairman of the social science staff at GHS. As its principal aim, this department strives to inform students about their country and its people and to keep them abreast of world affairs. To this end, American history is required of all juniors while world history, geography, modern problems, and psychology are offered as electives.

To foster participation in government and current events, the International Relations Club and CIVICS club have been formed. As a project, the IRC collected and sent books to India.

As this was election year, special emphasis was placed on the study of the process of election, the Constitution, and the candidates. Many students were privileged to view the inauguration ceremonies on television.

To promote further interest, the social science department sponsors students entering the Voice of Democracy and the American Legion oratorical contests.

In their study of democracy, students pledge allegiance to the flag

By observing figures students learn practical and worthwhile uses of geometry

Mathematics

THE NEED FOR SKILLED mathematicians in this country is ever growing. To help keep the nation in its high position, schools must offer an opportunity by instructing students in current mathematical disciplines, as well as introduction in mathematical equipment which will be standard for many years to come. GHS has seven different areas of math from which to choose. Courses in algebra, geometry, and trigonometry are offered from beginning to advanced stages. Mrs. Margaret Graves serves as head of the math department which includes eight teachers who devotedly instruct students toward advanced skills. To aid them in the realization of the practical uses of math, the teachers required their students to construct or draw tangible creations of geometric and trigonometric figures from various available materials as projects during the year.

Vocations

AS COORDINATORS OF their respective work training programs, Mrs. Kermit M. Watson and Mr. M. W. Boyd act as an important link between employer and employee. Juniors and seniors who are at least sixteen years of age and who are making average or above average on their scholastic work may apply for a place in the cooperative program. Under this plan the student takes four high school courses, two of which are related to his chosen vocation, and spends at least fifteen hours a week on the job for which he is being trained. He receives high school credit as well as pay for his training on the job.

Students in distributive education are part of a national program found in all fifty states and in the District of Columbia. Their jobs are those in retailing, wholesaling, and distributing. Diversified occupations is Greenville High's second program of vocational education, including such jobs as radio, printing, auto mechanics, drafting, and electrical work.

INCLUDED IN GREENVILLE HIGH'S vocational program are agriculture, shop, mechanical drawing, printing, and auto mechanics, directly preparing students for jobs in the outside world.

Vocational agriculture teaches improved farm techniques and imparts a greater knowledge of future agricultural possibilities.

In the shop class, students become familiar with wood-working, carpentry, and furniture making, and often help in building props for school plays.

Skill in understanding industrial designs is developed through mechanical drawing.

Printing helps to familiarize students with the operation and maintenance of much equipment and machinery connected with industrial arts, while students of auto mechanics gain a thorough knowledge of auto care and repair.

Art students learn basic fundamentals which bring recognition to the department

Fine Arts

Dramatic department's 'Lost Horizon' was a decided hit

THE FINE ARTS DEPARTMENT strives to develop GHS students' talents in the fields of music, art, and drama. Students gain instruction which may be used either vocationally or recreationally.

The choral groups appear several times during the year at student assemblies, perform outside the school for interested groups, and take part in the spring music festival and commencement.

The dramatics department has entertained GHS with "Lost Horizon", "After the Honeymoon", and "Eleventy Percent". "Carousel" was presented through the combined efforts of the dramatics and choral music departments.

The GHS band provides music for ball games and pep meetings, marches in parades, and has concerts during the year.

Many GHS students have entered and won prizes in contests by the encouragement of the art department. Student artists illustrate GHS' literary magazine, Bits O' Lit, and on special occasions have other opportunities to exhibit their work.

MISS ETHEL ROARK and Miss Clemence Wood oversee the use of the library which has approximately 10,000 volumes of fiction and non-fiction books, various periodicals and ample reference material. Students have access to the latest magazines and newspapers as the library subscribes to approximately 65 magazines and three daily newspapers.

Here students enjoy hours of quiet reading and studying. They use much of their time doing research work for term papers. Offering the student a variety of services, the library is open before and after school as well as during the school day.

Business Education

MRS. MARION H. LESESNE, chairman, and her staff offer a wide selection of courses from which students may obtain a thorough preparation in business skills. These varied courses include typewriting, shorthand, bookkeeping, and business math.

The business department emphasizes that skills gained in these courses provide a means of livelihood before, during, and after college and aid the student in study and research.

To further interest in these subjects, students are able to join the FBLA, a club for future business leaders. Each year the state chapter of FBLA, organized by Mrs. Rita B. Heape, holds a convention in Columbia, South Carolina, where GHS students vie for and often win state offices.

ASSISTANCE IN DEVELOPING skills in sports and gymnastics is the duty of our capable physical education instructors. Sportsmanship and the importance of physical fitness are stressed daily. Girls learn to play volleyball, baseball, basketball, and badminton, and to enjoy tumbling exercises. Boys are instructed in team games and individual activities as well as interscholastic and intramural sports. The instructors' ability to serve the school and to instruct the students is shown by the honors their students bring to GHS. Outstanding girls and boys are awarded block G's for their sports' achievements.

ORGANIZING AND KEEPING school business up to date is the big job carried on by the office. Secretaries keep records of each student so that he may be contacted immediately if necessary, and prepare hundreds of college transcripts each year. Many girls assist with running notes and secretarial work.

THE HEALTH CLINIC IS a busy place at GHS. Mrs. Joe T. Allen, popular nurse, treats students' ailments each day in the remodeled clinic, where there is a supply of medicine. Interested students help during their free periods. One might wonder if it's the medicine that cures the students, or just the cheerful atmosphere.

PROVIDING A WELL BALANCED lunch for GHS students every school day is the tremendous task placed on Mrs. Leita Gaskins, dietitian, and her able staff. Delicious meals are served in the pleasant atmosphere of the cafeteria by the efficient, well-trained personnel.

Although finding the way from class to class was one of the first difficulties they faced, sophomores soon conquered it and became acquainted with the school.

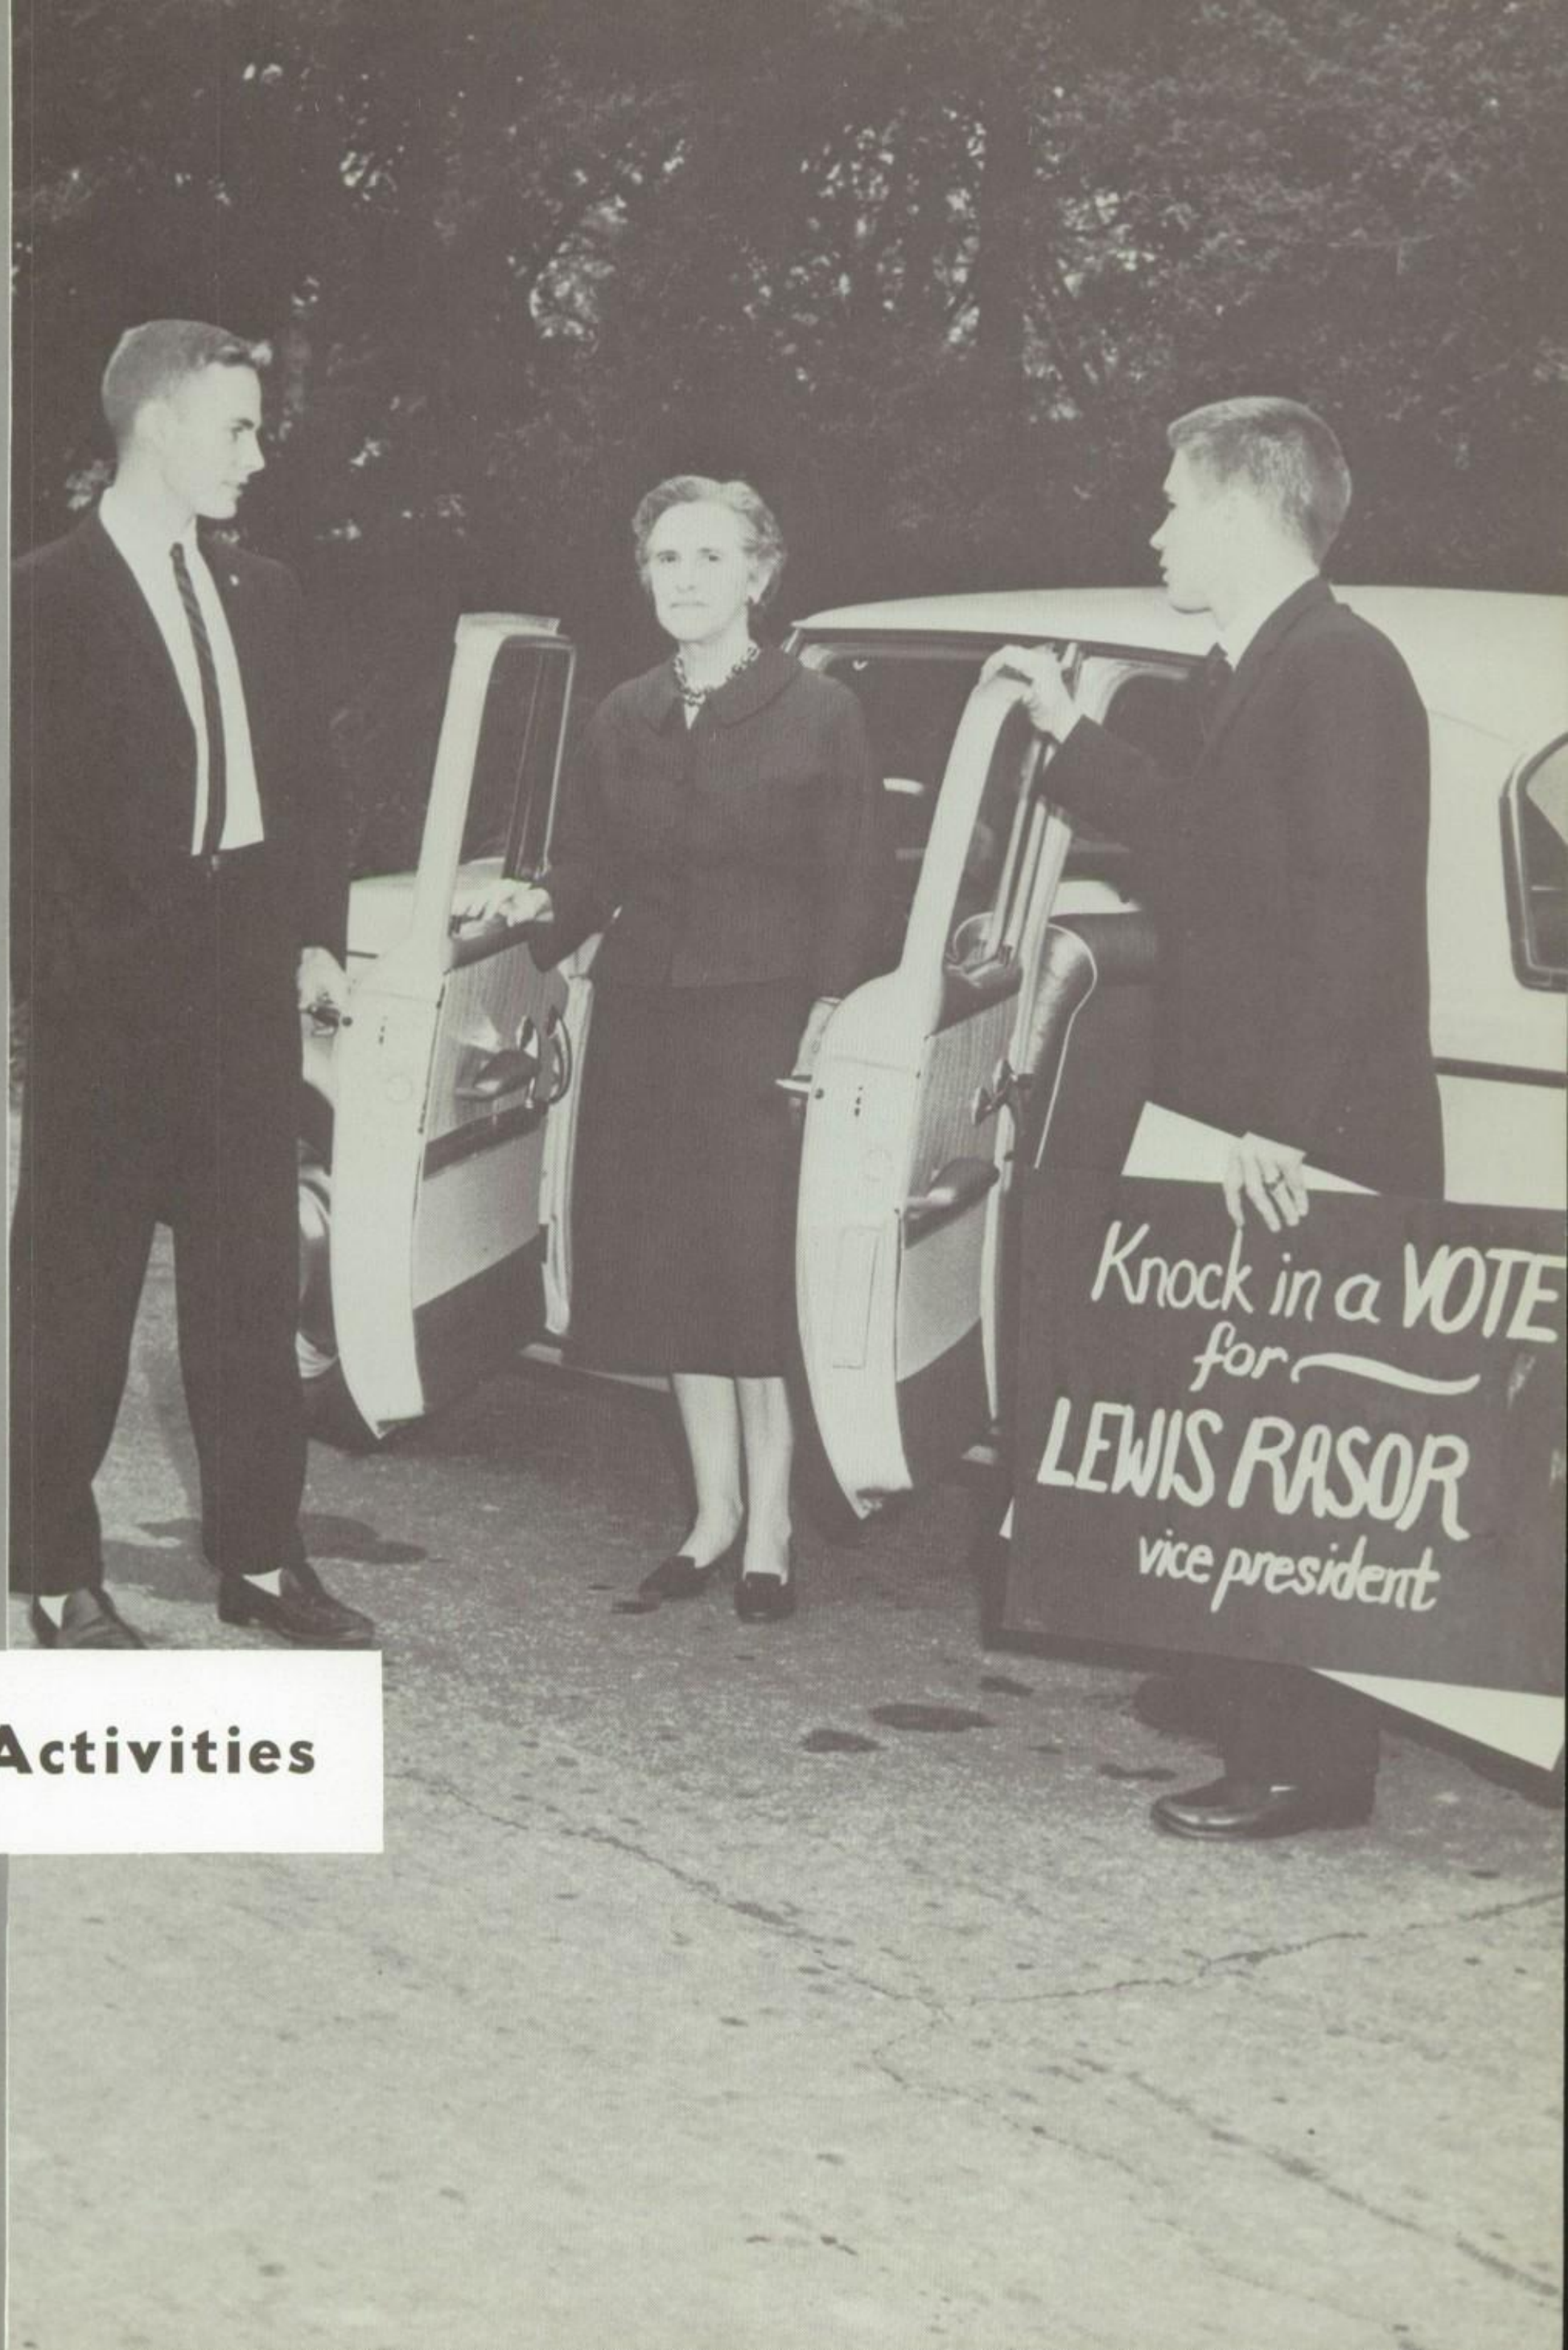

Coming up from junior high, they found that more equipment and educational opportunities in broadened fields were offered them.

Under the guidance of Miss Mel Lee Daniel, members of the cabinet discuss problems and suggestions to be presented to the student council of Greenville High. These groups work together to encourage unity within the student body and to develop leadership among students.

The cabinet is composed of the president of the student body and chairmen of the standing committees. The student body president serves as presiding officer of the student council which consists of the cabinet and presidents of all homerooms.

This year a fact-finding committee was appointed to study the leadership training program at GHS. The committee found that GHS'ers fill over 600 positions of leadership, including activities in clubs, committees, plays, athletics, newspaper, and homerooms, student body projects, state and district meets and leadership clinics. This program compares favorably with that of other high schools.

Assembly . . .

By ushering at PTA Open House and assisting with Thanksgiving, Christmas, and March of Dimes programs, the assembly committee serves and entertains the student body on special occasions.

TO CAPTURE memories of "the golden days of our youth," the 1961 NAUTILUS staff has planned and produced this GHS yearbook.

Each year, in creating the NAUTILUS, student staff members present ideas, choose the theme, plan the contents, and assume the financial problems involved.

In the book's final organization, a portrayal of life at Greenville High school is made, a collection of happy reminders of bright days gone by.

SERVING as a source of information and entertainment, Greenville High News is published weekly throughout the school year. Its columns cover the interests of both students and faculty, from general news items and sports coverage to social news, features, and editorials.

"Thirty-three years deep in GHS tradition," High News was published sixteen times a year until 1946, when it became a weekly publication.

This year the staff has continued to uphold the tradition of a top-ranking paper with a large circulation.

To select the Hall of Fame, seniors vote by secret ballot for the ten members of the graduating class who have made the greatest contributions to Greenville High school. When seniors elect their classmates to this honor each spring, they attempt to single out students who have been outstanding and well-rounded in their high school careers; who have shown leadership ability and demonstrated a sincere willingness to work for and with others; and who have given their best in the interest of the school. To choose only ten of this year's class seemed difficult as 44 seniors received 10 or more votes. Winners are representative of the student body and class governments, art, publications, and athletics.

The Raiders had one of the best offensive teams in many seasons. Every one on the team played excellent football and all can be proud of the showing they made against many tough opponents met in the 1960 season. Scoring was led by Charlie Wofford, Jerry Graves, Wayne Hudson, and Pete Fayssoux. Alton Buddin was nicknamed "the toe" for his ability to score extra points.

A strong defensive team helped the Raiders gain their eight victories and pull through a hard season successfully. The team, made up mostly of juniors, gives evidence that GHS will have a strong squad next year. The playing of Ken Robinson and Mike Rodrigue will be missed. The Greenville High Red Raiders opened their '60 season by defeating their new inter-city rivals, the Wade Hampton Generals. All the Mooremen played a fine game and by the end of the first quarter Coach J. A. Moore began to clear the benches giving all the team a chance to play. The final score was 47-0.

Playing in Parker Stadium, the Raiders trounced the Carolina Trojans in a penalty filled game. Charlie Wofford led the offensive and Steve Jones and Gil Gilreath were outstanding on the defensive. The Raiders emerged with a victorious score of 21-0.

The Raiders remained undefeated and unscored upon after they met the Anderson Yellow Jackets. Alton Buddin made all but one of the extra points. This, plus strong defensive playing and impressive passing, gave the Mooremen a score of 27-0.

Pete Fayssoux hustles past stunned Tornado defense, to score

The Raiders met some of their toughest competition of the season when they played the Gaffney Indians. The hard fought game resulted in the Red and White's only tie of the season. Jerry Graves went over the line in the fourth quarter for the Red's only score of the game. With only seconds remaining, Alton Buddin's kick for the extra point was good, making the final score 7-7.

With a change in schedule due to wet weather, the Raiders met the Greenwood Emeralds Monday night instead of the usual Friday night and lost the first game of the season. Jerry Graves played a good game both offensively and defensively and Charlie Wofford ran 80 yards for Greenville's only TD. With only seconds remaining in the game, Greenwood kicked a field goal resulting in a loss of 9-6.

Traveling to Clemson the Raiders met the Daniel Lions in a game filled with injuries for both teams. The Mooremen played a hard game and came out on top with a score of 28-6.

For the first time in GHS history, the Raiders defeated the Dreher Devils in a game which clearly showed that Greenville was the stronger team. Alton Buddin and Chester Childers were standouts for the Raider defensive, both making good tackles and fumble recoveries. Wayne Hudson scored both of the touchdowns, and Buddin made both extra points. The final score was 14-0.

Playing on a foggy field and being marred by numerous penalties, the Raiders downed the Columbia Capitals in a tense, hard fought game. The Raiders played good defensive ball, and Pete Fayssoux led the Raiders on offense. Alton Buddin scored two touchdowns and made three extra points. Fine playing resulted in a 21-7 victory.

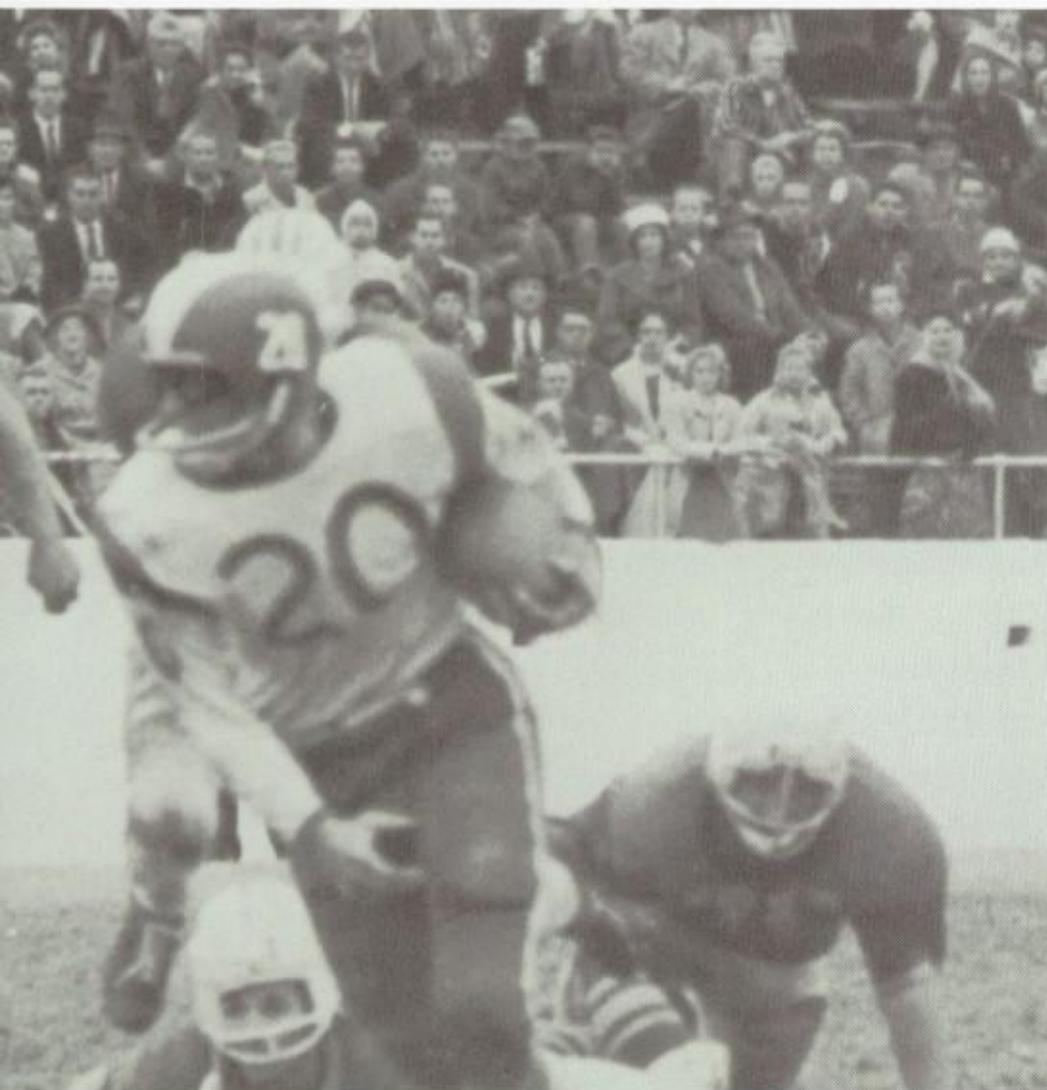

The absence of several starters, who were injured or sick, handicapped the Raiders and was a chief factor in their losing to North Augusta 19-0.

The Raiders to victory over Parker in the annual Turkey Day classic

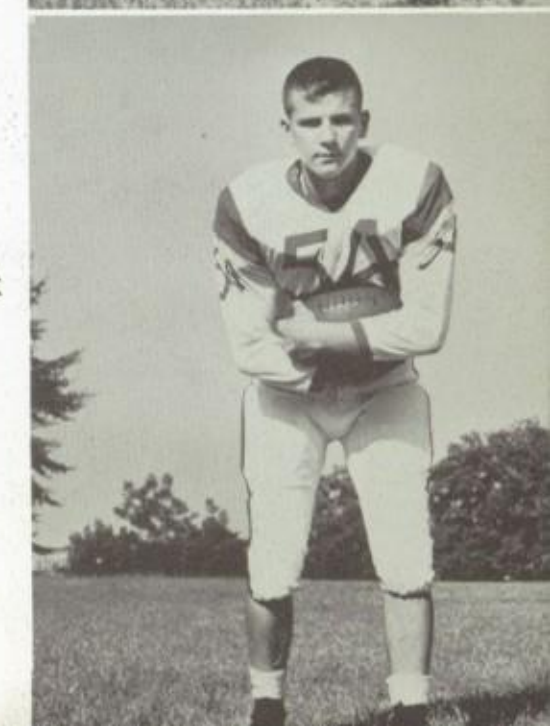

Battling the Lancaster Blue Hurricanes in sub-freezing temperature, the Raiders played before a scant 2,000 fans in one of their best offensive games of the year. Pete Fayssoux excelled in passing. Fayssoux and Buddin led the scoring, making 12 points each. The final score in favor of the Raiders was 42-19.

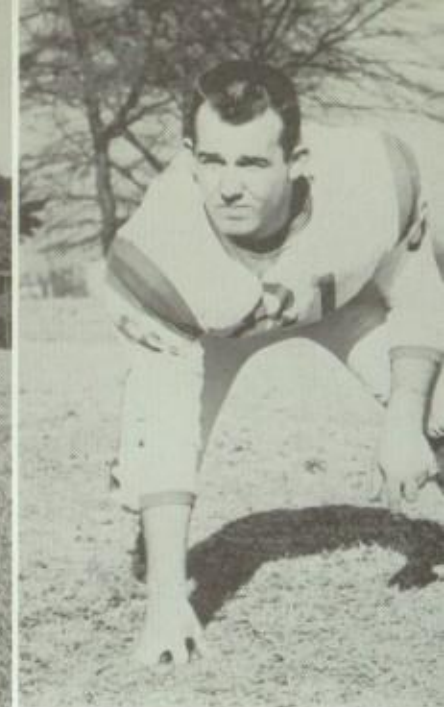

Playing on a Thursday afternoon, only a week before Parker, the Raiders lost to Riverside Military Academy. Alton Buddin crossed the goal for Greenville's only touchdown which made the score 21-6.

The Greenville-Parker game, played Thanksgiving day, was just the classic it has always been. Spirits were high and indeed it was a fierce battle from the first kickoff to the final gun. Pete Fayssoux and David Baldwin were standouts for Greenville. The whole team played a fine game as they have done the entire season. The victory of Greenville was a great finish to one of the Raiders' better seasons.

The score was close till the last few minutes of the game, but Greenville won the victory 15-14.

FOOTBALL BANQUET: A highlight of the football season is the annual banquet. Players, their parents, cheerleaders, and other special guests enjoyed a delicious meal in the cafeteria beautifully decorated in a football theme. Schaefer Kendrick, local attorney, delivered an inspiring address on leadership and ability. Principal D. L. Stanford awarded trophies to outstanding players, and Coach J. A. Moore presented twenty block G's. Each member of the team possessing a block G received a red blazer with white emblem.

Under the direction of W. B. Phillips, the Greenville High Red Raiders were five lettermen strong as they went into the 1960-'61 season.

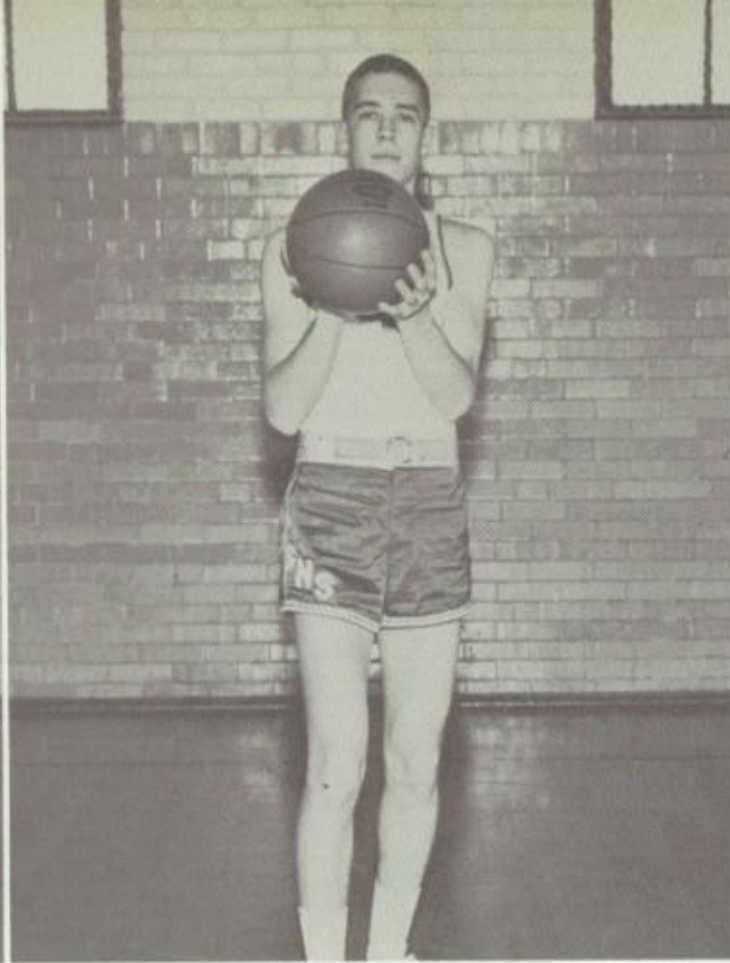

Home games were played on the gleaming hardwoods of Memorial auditorium. An outstanding Raider team received the strong support of an enthusiastic student body as hours of hard work and practice paid off. Accurate basketekers found their marks time after time and it soon became evident that the 1960-'61 Raider team was the finest in several seasons.

One bad game of the season cost the highly favored Raiders a crack at the Up-State title and possibly the state crown. The number one triple-A team in the state going into the Spartanburg tournament, Greenville bowed to Greenwood in the second round when the Emeralds caught a fine Raider team cold and eked out a 58-47 victory.

The sometimes fabled Diamonds of antiquity carried no greater charm of satisfaction than the Diamonds we are showing now. Come in and see them when you will. Let our 105 years of diamond handling be yours to command as we tell you the things about Diamonds that will allow you to draw hairlines of distinction in grading your application. Then let our enviable Diamond buying privileges be put to work to SAVE YOU MONEY in the Diamond purchases you from time to time make. We are not talking at random when we advise you that this is a good time, especially at the favoring prices we are now able to offer — to buy DIAMONDS. YOU MUST BUY VALUE IN DIAMONDS IF WE MAKE THE SALE.

Our Complete Jewelry Manufacturing Facilities — right on the premises — are yours to make use of, no matter on how quick call — for remounting, for modernizing of jewelry pieces of cuttings and the like.
